

New coffee shop opens at PDX

Portland Roasting Coffee has opened its first of three Portland International Airport locations just past security between the D and E gates. The company in a press release said it's the airport's only locally owned and operated roaster and "will serve a wide range of extraordinary coffees from all over the world in all your favorite ways." The cafe will be open 4 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily and will be joined by two more airport locations later this year.
